Public Choice (2005) 124: 499–500

Public Choice

Contents of Volume 124, 2005

Volume 124, Nos. 1–2

Articles

William F. Shughart II, Robert D. Tollison, Public choice in the new century 1–18
James M. Buchanan, Afraid to be free: Dependency as desideratum 19–31
Charles K. Rowley, Fragmenting parchment and the winds of war: The Constitution of the United States, 1860–2004 33–56
Dennis C. Mueller, Constitutional political economy in the European Union 57–73
Todd Sandler, Collective versus unilateral responses to terrorism 75–93
Randall G. Holcombe, Government growth in the twenty-first century 95–114
Michael C. Munger, Nineteenth-century voting procedures in a twenty-first century world 115–133
Thomas Stratmann, Some talk: Money in politics. A (partial) review of the literature 135–156
John G. Matsusaka, The eclipse of legislatures: Direct democracy in the 21st century 157–177
J. Harold Mulherin, Corporations, collective action and corporate governance: One size does not fit all 179–204
Lawrence W. Kenny, The public choice of educational choice 205–222
Paul H. Rubin, Public choice and tort reform 223–236
William F. Shughart II, Robert D. Tollison, The unfinished business of public choice 237–247

Volume 124, Nos. 3–4

Articles

Timo Goeschl, Non-binding linked-issues referenda: Analysis and an application 249–266
John Hudson, Philip Jones, "Public goods": An exercise in calibration 267–282
Mathias Kifmann, Health insurance in a democracy: Why is it public and why are premiums income related? 283–308
William E. Stein, Amnon Rapoport, Symmetric two-stage contests with budget constraints 309–328

Martin Bodenstein, Heinrich W. Ursprung, Political yardstick competition, economic integration and constitutional choice in a federation: A numerical analysis of a contest success function model 329–352
Anwar Hussain, David N. Laband, The tragedy of the political commons: Evidence from U.S. Senate roll call votes on environmental legislation 353–364
Donald Wittman, Valence characteristics, costly policy and the median-crossing property: A diagrammatic exposition 365–382
Robert R. Logan, Yeung-Nan Shieh, The dual illusion of grants-in-aid on central and local expenditures: A reply 383–390
Andreas Freytag, The credibility of monetary reform – New evidence 391–409
Giuseppe Dari-Mattiacci, Francesco Parisi, Rents, dissipation and lost treasures: Rethinking Tullock's paradox 411–422
Anthony G. Heyes, Catherine Liston-Heyes, Economies of scope and scale in green advocacy 423–436
Tyler Cowen, Self-deception as the root of political failure 437–451
Joseph P. McGarrity, Macroeconomic conditions and committee re-election rates 453–480

Book Reviews

James T. Bennett, Tax-Funded Politics (William F. Shughart II) 481–484
Pascal Boyer, Explaining religion: The evolutionary origins of religious thought (Kenneth V. Greene) 485–487
Instructions to Authors 489–495
Author Index 497
Volume Contents 499–500